Kyle Van Zon State Titles Experience

Sates was a challenging good experience. There were many talented kids there from all age groups. The tables were fast and the pockets were tight. The day was not going to be easy like beating Aza blind folded or pouring the most foulest beans over bulldog, but challenging.

Before anybody plays any tournament they must be:

1. Relaxed
2. In the game/concentrating
3. Being able to control your cool
4. Good sportsman ship

These points were very important for me at states with out them you may as well give them the game.

And that's exactly what I did. I was very nerves and a little shaky. I could not concentrate, or keep my cool. This led me to giving the opponnet the upper hand seeing that I am frustrated making many negative comments to my self. The only thing that did go right was my sportsman ship never make bad comments only positive ones like, good shot mate, bad luck, shacking there hand and racking the balls for the next game.

The last key point is smiling and having fun.

But at the same time you all need to say to your selves is I am going into this game to pot out and win. If you miss a shot think about what can I do next or what could of improved that shot. 1 you must get the pot, 2 white ball control but don't sit there and loose all focus on the pot and just control you must get the pot.

Thanks to Aza and Wayne and all thoughts down at Miss Q's.

By Kyle Van Zon.

The Duelling

Hey guys its Andrew here, I'm back!!! Well Kez asked me to write a piece for the newsletter and I was stoked but I had no idea where to start so I thought well the beginning is a good place. I'm writing this because my friend Jared and I have a little competition going where we "hit" each other, long story short it's like Jackass but with no funding! It all started when I invited Jared around to mine for a few drinks after work one night; He worked with me at the time so I asked him to bring pizza round when he came as I was starving, when he got to mine we sat down and I proceeded to guts down the pizza only to find a note on the bottom of the box, saying "Ha-ha 14 No-Doz on your pizza good luck sleeping tonight!", for those of you that don't know what No-Doz is they are caffeine tablets! 2 will keep you awake quite happily so you can imagine 14!! That was it! A plan was hatched to get him back and our little competition went from there eventually escalating as friends made suggestions and helped with the "hits". Anyway there will be a section on everything we've done and there's photos to boot! So make sure you read every month to find out the next stupid thing we did! Until next month may your eye be sharp and your cue straight. Andrew
