

Play the Table

Vol 12. No.2 March 2011

Editorial:

Well the talk of the month is certainly Gossie, Gossie Gossie, check it all out from the Miss Q's Drag Queens to the first Challenge of the decade - a good job done to all involved :-)

This month is all about the Summer Elite Team Finals, as the season end, fast approaches. All the very best of luck to all finalists, play your best games of the season. Captains please register your teams for the Winter Season with me as soon as possible. I am still looking to Sponsor two Monday Captains & three Wednesday Captains, please see me for details.

March 26th is Earth Hour and we will be holding our traditional Glow Pool Party in Support of Earth Hour. This is one of our more fun events of the year where playing pool in the dark can win you great prizes. This is a pre paid event so get in early & book a table.

In closing I would like to wish Emma Turner the very best of luck in her new job and thank her from us all for her contributions, she will always be a Miss Q. I would also formally like to welcome Jarrad Page who has taken up a more prominent role at Miss Q's running the Friday Night Leagues with Andrea, Ma has taken over Emz Saturday Top Dog Comp. Cheers til next month...

Happy Potting

The Mandurah Q's

A Bet Lost & A Debt Settled!

So this is how it happened..... Some time ago, two years, to be exact, Antonio owner of Gosnells Pot Black and fearless leader of the Gossies Challenge Team, threw down the gauntlet and laid out as incentive for his team his chest hair and dignity, in trade for three consecutive wins against the then "Mighty" Miss Q's Challenge Team and after many moons and three straight wins to the Gossies Team, Antonio with a lot of wax and an enthusiastic entourage shed all the hair from his chest lmao (Ouch!). Anyhow once Antonio had recovered from that bout of self inflicted foolishness, he decided I too should suffer and issued a challenge not many could refuse. We, as in the Miss Q's Team had to win one match from the next five challenges and if we couldn't I would have to do a shift working at Gosnells Pot Black in Drag..... But here was the kicker, if we did win just one match he'd be doing the same here at Miss Q's, it was a brave bet on his part, I couldn't say no, lol. So as we challenged away across the course of the next year we lost match after match until, yep you guessed it, we lost five straight challenges and the bet I had accepted and Az had to put on his pretty girl outfit and head to Gosnells for Antonio's pay day. Much to my surprise Kez had other ideas and rounded up the troops during the following weeks determined that it was a team debt and that we would shock Antonio half to death (and hopefully quiet his gloating some) should we show up as a team in drag for my shift, so that's exactly what we did. One Saturday afternoon the brave and loyal Miss Q's men gathered in the lobby at Miss Q's and with military precision got ourselves kitted out for battle complete with war paint and headed for Gossies praying that we'd not get lost and have to stop and ask for directions. An hour later we'd arrived and were waiting for the stragglers of our platoon in Pot Black's car park, and we were ready. I led the way followed by my trusty soldiers and I've gotta say the look on Antonio's face (See Pics) was worth wearing 5 inch heels for, I have never seen Antonio so shocked and lost for words and hopefully never will again, unless it's at Miss Q's next time we win. Secretly I think he was a bit turned on by all the talent that had just graced his venue lol. Gossies hosted a cash knockout for the night (another comp won by Gossies) but for some reason we all played like girls lmao. Anyway a bet made, a bet paid and a mind game won for good measure made for a pretty good night all round. Stay tuned for the next round of challenge's wagers and payouts, must be our turn again I reckon. Cheers to the Brave wo-Men of Miss Q's for your efforts on the night. At ease Gentlemen. Sergeant Az.

Gossies Winning Streak Continues

After the all exciting Drag Night at Gossies, the Miss Q's players were fired up and ready for the Challenge & new wager. The new deal was done that the venue to win the most challenges in 2011 would host a theme party of their choice & the other venue would have to go in theme to that said Party... Hehehe...

The first of the four 2011 Challenges was held at Miss Q's on Feb 20th. The Gossies arrived in a Bus, that Gary arranged (Cheers Gaz) and there was no doubt that Antonio was relieved to see our Boys in normal attire for the Challenge. The scene was set with the Miss Q's cheer leaders Rachel Kinane & Holly Jane Vaelua, singing out their support with sheer enthusiasm.

As the results started coming in it was clear that the Gossies had picked up where they left off from last year. The Miss Q's players put up a gallant battle, tying & winning a couple of rounds, but the Gossies were too strong on the day. After 15 rounds of play the scores were Gosnells Pot Black 168 to Miss Q's 132, leaving Gossies 1 - 0 in Wager. The player of the Challenge went to Gosnells Brendan O'Brien who took 14 from a possible 15 frames, a great effort. Evan Briggs was Miss Q's player of the match taking 11 frames for the day. A big Congrats to Antonio's Gossies Super side, that makes 9 consecutive wins!! The next chance we have to even the score will be at Gossies in May. Stay tuned for qualifying details

Also Special Thanks to the Miss Q's men for their good humour & the support they gave Az, the pictures are bound to circulate for years to come and rest assured you all looked gorgeous!

Hi guys its Pagey here and for those who don't know me, I've been here playing pool for about 6 years, I usually play most nights of the week and now Co-ordinate the Friday green league.

Anyway enough about me, now onto what has been going on. The drag night, the night before Gossies challenge was a blast for all the people who went, with Az and Andrew Crocker looking very feminine haha, the next day was the challenge and lots of close games where had but eventually we went down, Evan Briggs was our best scorer with Shutts close 2nd. Just before I go there will be Friday Social Singles league starting soon so if anyone is interested come see someone at the Bar for details. Cya round the tables Pagey

Above: Holly Jane, Rachel, Storm & Stone at one of Azza's Coaching Clinics. Come along from 3pm any Sunday to join in and improve your game

Farewell Emz.....
