Vol 12. No.8 September 2011

Editorial:

The dominant talk this month has been all about our fist win in two years over the Gossies Super Side, final score 120 – 100 J Kyle Van Zon also took out the Player of the Challenge for Miss Q's. My sincere congratulations to our fantastic team, you have done yourselves & Miss Q's proud!

In other challenge news, the Silliness has not subsided in fact the challenges amongst our own are growing at an amusing rate, with boys & bears in bikinis, boys having their legs waxed & hair dyed, boys dressing as girls & my all time favourite the infamous Bean Challenge. Kyle owned the Bean King Crown for 3 years but now Kim is the proud bearer of that crown when he lost in a very close match to Kyle 5-1 J Kim will be looking for a new Challenger in February next year, so watch out! The other Challenge matches results are well publicised on our Facebook page, the pics are on the back page of this newsletter & in the Miss Q's Website Gallery.

Also Special Congratulations to Matt Vincent & Cam Fox of V&F Welding who built the most amazing Custom Motorcycle & unveiled it here at Miss Q's a couple of weeks ago. Their brag board is still in the foyer if you missed out & you can find all the pics of the night in the Gallery.

This month we also celebrate all of our Elite Players with our annual team photo shoot, check everyone out in this issue & see if you can pick the team that will reign supreme at Carnival Weekend in November.

Also a quick reminder that the annual Geraldton Rossi Boots Cash Comp is on October 7th, 8th & 9th if anyone is keen to play, give Adrian Lancaster a bell on 0400 180 130, or see me.

Coming up this month we have our Ladies trying out for the first time to make the WA State Team, all the very best to all 20 of them & you can read all about their experiences in the next issue. Until then take care out there & a very Happy Fathers Day to all Dads.

Happy Potting

Miss Q's Victorious as the Tide Turns!

Sunday 28th of August saw the Gosnells Challenge Team travel to Miss Q's bringing the trophy they had held in their possession for two and a half years worth of Challenge Matches (10 Straight wins) only to find themselves leaving here at Miss Q's (It's only rightful home). Miss Q's had held it's traditional team qualifier the previous Saturday and was left wanting when we found many of our strongest players had been unable to attend and consequently didn't make the team, nevertheless the competition was still solid during the qualifier & we still had a strong side with Miss Q's Challenge Team Champions Do Us Proud!

Gary Wightman winning the trophy & Eliot Aloysius finishing as runner up (Well Done Guys). The Gossies Team showed up (On time.... What tha?) and were a couple of players light of a full side, luckily we had some excess players that had attended and were ready to fill spots in our team should we suffer a disaster with qualified players on the day, so we lent them to the Gossies for the day (Zac Baldock & Jesse Caldw bringing down the Gossies team from the inside. Cheers boys :-).) With that piece of stealthy infiltration taken care of play got under way and at the end of Round 1 Gossies had won the first of the only two rounds they would win all day. The matches went quickly as usual and it was anybody's match with the majority of rounds finishing either in a draw or barely in Miss Q's favour, all the way till the last round when Miss Q's dug deep providing the only true landslide scoreline of the day 15-5 Miss Q's way leaving the final score as Miss Q's 120 wins to Gosnells 100. Both Gossies & Miss Q's had several standout players on the day but when it came to Player of the Match there was a playoff between Kyle Van Zon of Miss Q's and Dave Barker from Gossies and appropriately the Miss Q's junior Kyle took the win 2-1 in one final act of defiance (Great job Kyle about time Dave lost that title). With all that said I'd like to thank a few people for their efforts, firstly the Miss Q's Team excellent job guys, well done, Stewie for doing an amazing job helping Kez do her amazing job on the bar and running the comp all day, Kyle for helping me take the pics of the day, the Gossies team for your outstanding sportsmanship & finally Antonio for bringing back our trophy (Cheers man :-).)

P.s That was the easy bit guys keeping that trophy for another 10 straight wins is gonna be the tough part. Thanks all, Az.

Part 5 – Last month in this series of articles we looked at the evolution of table construction from the bed of the table to the materials used in the manufacture of the cushions. As promised this month's article will look at some of the various types of tables played on both here and around the world, also some of the variations caused by the invention of different games across the globe. There are more versions of cue sports games than I could possibly list here (enough to fill a phone book) but we'll look at some of the more common games starting with Billiards. Billiards was originally played with two balls and a hoop fixed to the table, the first tables were made to order and appear to have varied dramatically in size according to the buyers want. In the early 18th century a two-to-one ratio of length to width became the standard proportions for billiard tables. As billiards continued to evolve as a game the hoop disappeared and an extra ball was introduced along with pockets, versions of 3Ball billiards are still in existence today, among these is 3 cushion no pocket billiards, played on a 10 foot table with heating elements under the playing bed and a napless cloth, it is perhaps the most demanding of all the cue sports disciplines, I recommend anybody who has not seen this search it on You tube for a look it is truly amazing to watch. Snooker is believed to have been invented in colonial India in the 1800's by one Sir Neville Chamberlain who decided to add the coloured balls from another game known as "Life Pool" to the 15 red balls used in "Pyramid Pool" and Snooker was born, it is said that Sir Chamberlain called one young man a "Snooker" as an insult after he missed an easy shot, the name stuck and the rest is history. Snooker today is played on a 12x6 foot table and uses 2 1/16th of an inch balls for both the object balls and the cue ball, it is played on a cloth that has a "Nap" or directional grain which traditionally runs from the baulk line end down to the top of the table. 8Ball first appeared around 1908 in the USA and was originally known as "B.B.C. Co. Pool" (Brunswick-Balke & Collender Company) and was played with 7 reds 7 yellows one black ball and a white cue ball as we do today and was later changed to numbered balls perhaps to allow the invention of other games. This version of the game was played on 7, 8 & 9 foot tables and gradually morphed into what is today known as International Rules 8Ball. From this many other games were born including straight pool, one pocket pool, 10Ball & of course 9Ball. Originally known as the "Money Game" 9Ball, is now played world wide and was invented in the USA in the 1920's. 9Ball is traditionally played on a 9 Foot table that has square cut pockets and a napless cloth and is to this day a popular game amongst pool playing professionals worldwide with substantial prize money offered at many tournaments. The version of 8Ball we are accustomed to here in Australia generally, is the same as is played in the UK using the Standard World Rules with Reds & Yellows on a 7 foot table with a directional napped cloth and 2 inch balls with a 1 & 7/8th cue ball. Although variations of this game using numbered balls and different sized cue balls can be found all over the country, and in New South Wales you can even find it commonplace to play International Rules 8Ball (the American game). To be continued.... Till next month Az.

What a Great Month of fun at Miss Q's, lets see what September brings :-)

Suzie ♡

Hi Guys! Its been a trying first month (with my L plates behind the bar) but I hope your not sick of me yet! New Friday purple social league just starting which is very exciting. Excellent to see so many new faces!! Still have a vacancy if you know anyone who is interested. Fridays are for Fun!! If you have any ideas as to what can make it so much more exciting, games, riddles, trivia etc drop your ideas off to me at the bar (or on a Monday while im down here playing) and we'll get that into swing!! Ciao for now! Suzie.
