

Play the Table

Vol 13. No.5 June 2012

Editorial:

A very enjoyable month of Education & Pool, with our first ever quiz night a huge success, well done to Gordon & thanks to GLS for the great prizes.

Followed by a terrific turnout to the Gossies Challenge Qualifier & another enjoyable day on the Tables at Gosnells Pot Black, a big congrats to the Gossies players who whipped us 162 - 98 & to Sean Meakin the player of the Challenge who never dropped a single frame!

Also a big congrats to the Premier All Stars who played in their Singles Championship with 5 All Stars finishing in the top 8 and 3 placing 2nd & equal 3rd. Well done to Stewie Lambert our top player.

In amongst the fun & games everything has been about preparations for the Party of the decade, us Miss Q's crew are busy little bees at the moment making sure we mark our 10th Anniversary with something Super Special! It seems we aren't the only ones, with the banter on the floor all about the amazing Purple & Gold Formal outfits everyone is organising in an attempt to win the Best Dressed Awards, I can't wait to see everyone dressed to the nines :-). If you haven't booked a ticket or table yet, please do so soon as it is a catered event & we need to know numbers in advance. There are only three tables still available for groups & then its only individual Tickets to go.

Quiz Wiz DazzleZ

On May 10th, it was all happening at Miss Q's. On May 10th, history was made. On May 10th we held our very first ever... QUIZ NIGHT!! If you think that introduction was a little over the top, you'd be wrong. There was a great turnout with nine teams all trying to drag up every useless fact they thought they would never need to get ahead of the competition. The night started around 7.30 with a standard round of general knowledge just to ease everyone in. Then we moved onto the themed rounds before breaking it up a bit at half time with a bit of pool. Yes, being in a pool hall it would have been unacceptable to not include a little pot-the-lot competition. Each team nominated a player to compete and each ball potted (up to 15) won their team a bonus point. I don't think anybody would be surprised that it was

Quiz Night Champ Ian Payne with the Quiz Wiz himself Gordon & rest of the Champs Teresa Payne & Bill Khune

Stewie who managed to pot the most and he earned himself a prize for his efforts. Soon after, it was back to the quiz. Things recommenced with round six focussing on the arts and from there the questions were pretty standard. The scores perhaps a little higher than I was comfortable with but round nine's nature theme brought most teams back down to Earth. Maybe it was a bit of a weak area but it is more likely that the questions were a little on the fiendish side. Hopefully this helped to prepare the teams for the final round, an evil round specifically designed to trick people, but also to educate. Examples that will certainly stun and amaze all you readers are that Bell did NOT invent the telephone, Dolly the sheep was NOT the first artificially cloned animal, Octopuses (octopi is not strictly correct) actually have NO tentacles and Australia has NO official language. What a mad world! So with a top score of three points for that round nobody was going to burst clear of the pack. In fact, the final score was a three-way tie between Team P.J, Detective Agency and M o m m y Dearest. This was easily settled with another pot-the-lot competition and the winner of Miss Q's first ever quiz night was Mommy Dearest comprising Ian Payne, Teresa Payne and Bill Khune. Oh the rabble of conspiracy theorists can already be heard but rest assured, my parents were truly the winners. And so concluded a night of mental mastery and the winners were presented with a range of prizes donated by Greenfields Liquor Store. Thank you to all those who involved to make it a very enjoyable night and if you couldn't make it down on the night, then perhaps another time.

Gossies Challenge

Gossies Challenge Champs, the Formidable Gosnells Pot Black Team

As usual the Gossies Challenge started with a Saturday Night Qualifier the week before the actual Challenge Match, 26 players showed to play off for 20 spots and it made for an exciting and intense round robin section with not a single easy win on offer. The top eight players went on to play for bragging rights and this was eventually won by Jarrad Page, meanwhile the bottom 8 played for the remaining couple of spots on the team and this was won in fine form by Kahli Regan, Well done to both players.

The following Sunday we all gathered at Miss Q's and carpoled to Gossies for the days play intent on getting our trophy back we arrived nice and early and got our share of practice while Antonio had conniptions trying to ensure he had a full side for the day. Finally Match play kicked off and as per usual every game was close and the rounds flowed faster than they ever had and at the half way mark the Gossies were 22 wins in front of the Miss Q's side leaving only 7 more rounds to close the gap and secure the win if we were gonna take our trophy home, but alas it wasn't to be with Gossies coming home strong and creating a real bloodbath in the latter part of the day. The final score Miss Q's 98 - Gosnells 162 smashing us convincingly. Player of the Challenge went to Gosnells Sean Meakin winning 13 from 13 games played, a very impressive effort. Myself & Shutts took 9 each to finish as Miss Q's top players.

Congratulations to the Gossies on another convincing win & time for us to hit the practice tables if we are going to force a draw in the overall 2012 side bet. We still have last years lose pay up of the Disco theme party to attend, stay tuned for info on that.

See you all at Coaching & lets regroup for the home Challenge here at Miss Q's in August. Az.
